

A Kaufmann Kid

In Which Prices Are Low and Qualities High

Glove Occasion

FOR WOMEN

First. It is proper to say that Kaufmann's has a fixed standard of Kid Gloves, and that these gloves live up to it.

Second. That all the money spent upon them by the makers has been put into quality, and not into advertising.

Third. That we are not obliged to sell these gloves at a fixed price, and consequently shall offer them to-morrow at less than our regular profit.

All of which means to women who will buy them to-day, probably in two or three pairs, a saving of at least 25 per cent compared with the prices of other kid gloves of equal quality.

At $1.00 Pair

1-button, washable veldor gloves, heavy warranted price seems, perfect fitting; in white.

At $1.25 Pair

2-clasp glaze kid gloves, heavy embroidered backs; overstitched seams; in white with black and black with white; $1.50 quality.

At $1.98 Pair

16-button, splendid washable doeskin gloves; P. K. seams—a glove which, if sold under a trade mark, would bring $3.00.

EXTRA SPECIAL!At $2.38 Pair

16-button French Glaze Gloves; overstitched seams, Cleopatra buttons; of finest selected skins—only a limited quantity of this $3.50 grade to-day at $2.38.

MAIN FLOOR.

The Store of To-Day and To-Morrow.

Kaufmann & Company

Where Fourth Street Meets Broad.

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Biddle, of Philadelphia, are guests of Captain and Mrs. Joseph E. Willard at their home on West Franklin Street. Captain and Mrs. Willard gave a dinner in honor of their guests on Thursday evening and also entertained at dinner for Mr. and Mrs. Biddle again last evening. Mrs. James Walker was hostess at a very pretty tea yesterday afternoon at the Country Club of Virginia, complimentary to Mr. and Mrs. Biddle. The tea table was set with a bowl of spring flowers, and tea was served on the terrace of the clubhouse.

At the Country Club. Society will be out in full force this afternoon and to-night at the Country Club. There will be the usual number of small dinners preceding the hop, and an orchestra will play from 7:30 until 11 o'clock. The clubhouse is decorated throughout in big branches of dogwood and cherry blossoms, and the terraces are crowded with the small tables for tea in the afternoon. Miss Helen Stevens will be hostess at dinner this evening for several out-of-town guests.

To Visit Lynchburg. Mrs. Robert Davy Eaglesfield and her little son, of Indianapolis, Ind., who have been visiting in Richmond and Powhatan County for the past two weeks, will leave in a few days to spend some time with her sister, Mrs. Charles E. Ashburner, in Lynchburg. Mrs. Eaglesfield has been the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Haskins Hobson, at their home, "Mt. Airy," during her visit to Powhatan.

Miss Downes' Wedding. Of much interest to society here is the marriage of Miss Elizabeth Chase Downes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lodovick Downes, and Charles Clifton Anderson, which will be celebrated at St. Timothy's Church in Cambridge, Md., this evening at 7 o'clock. The bride will be attended by a bevy of pretty girls and their costumes are to be fashioned after fetching models worn at a recent London marriage of interest on two continents.

The Norfolk Ledger-Dispatch contains the following of interest to Mr. Lee's friends in Richmond.

"Mrs. Phillip Lee was hostess Wednesday afternoon at a small but enjoyable tea given at her residence, in Yorkmouth Street, in honor of Mrs. Page Lee. The rooms were charmingly decorated with spring flowers and ferns; large clusters of white snowballs filled bowls in every corner. Mrs. Lee received her guests, assisted by Mrs. Page Lee. The rooms were charmingly decorated with spring flowers and ferns; large clusters of white snowballs filled bowls in every corner. Mrs. Lee received her guests, assisted by Mrs. Page Lee.

"Among those who called were: Mrs. J. C. Nelson, Mrs. Edward May, Mrs. Shirley Cary, Mrs. Richard Calver Taylor, Mrs. Charles Wales, Mrs. Arthur Stansbury, Mrs. Dabney, Mrs. Peter Warwick, Mrs. R. Cornelius Taylor, Mrs. Richard Byrd, Mrs. Norman Bell, Mrs. Stuart John, Mrs. Foster, Mrs. Wadell, of Washington, D. C., Mrs. Wadell, Mrs. Downer, Mrs. Lane Kelly, Jr., Mrs. William White, Mrs. William Toper, Mrs. Calvert Day, Mrs. William Whitte, Mrs. Manley, Mrs. Arthur Humphreys, Mrs. Wertenbaker, Miss Julia Downer, Misses Whittle, Miss Sonie Reed, of Roanoke; Misses Starkie, Miss Johnson, of New York; Miss Dorothy Thompson, of Charlottesville, Va.; Miss Evelyn Southall and Misses Eliza and Kate Bell."

Of Interest Here. Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Edmonds and Miss Mary E. Edmonds left Baltimore Thursday for a five or six weeks' trip through the South and Southwest. They will stop at Norfolk for a day or two and thence to Asheville and from there to the far South, stopping in St. Louis to attend the Southern Baptist Convention May 14 to 19. Mr. Edmonds' secretary, Howard L. Clark, will accompany them.

In and Out of Town. Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Scott have returned to Richmond, after spending a week at Atlantic City.

Mrs. J. P. Hannigan has returned to her home in Clifton Forge, after a short visit to friends in this city.

Mrs. O. L. Stearns, of Salem, has been the recent guest of relatives in Richmond.

Miss Elsie Ingram will leave today to spend the week end at the Page home in Hanover County.

Miss Nan Lindsey left yesterday to spend a short time visiting friends in Albemarle.

Mrs. Lewis Harvie, who has been in Richmond for treatment at St. Luke's Hospital, has returned to her home.

Mrs. Hiram M. Smith has returned to the city, after a visit to relatives in Fredericksburg for a few days.

Mrs. William W. Wilcox, of Middletown, N. J., is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. James Cannon at their apartment at the Chesterfield.

Mrs. Kate Woodrow, a cousin of President Wilson, of Columbia, S. C., is visiting Mrs. T. R. English in Ginter Park.

Mrs. Patrick Hamilton has returned to Petersburg, after a short visit to the Executive Mansion here.

Mrs. Robert O'Ferrall has returned to the city, after visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Tuggle, in Blackstone.

Miss Virginia Moore has returned to her home in Memphis, Tenn., after visiting friends in Richmond and Danville.

Mrs. Charles Wood, of Norfolk, is visiting friends in Richmond, before going to Danville and Raleigh, N. C.

Miss Therese Nurney left yesterday for Baltimore, where she will spend several days.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Overby have returned to Blackstone, after spending a short time in this city.

Mrs. W. W. Butzner, who has been visiting in Richmond, has returned to her home in Fredericksburg.

Mrs. J. N. Barney has returned to Fredericksburg, after a short stay with friends in Richmond.

Mrs. Will F. Heard, Jr., of Lafayette, Ala., accompanied by her little boy, who was summoned to the bedside of her brother, Elbert C. Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilton O. Allen, Sr., who has been ill with pneumonia, has sufficiently recovered for them to return home this morning.

The Velvet Kind Same Quality Every Day. PURITY ICE CREAM. Monroe 1801.

Shades to Order at Ryan-Smith's. The Low Profit Policy Store.

Daisy Bread AT ALL GROCERS. Save The Labels and Get Valuable Premiums. AMERICAN BREAD AND BAKING CO. 6 East Leigh Street.

Rothert & Co. Fourth and Broad.

Ladies' Russian Calf Rubber Sole Oxfords, $2.50 to $4.00. Men's Russian Calf Rubber Sole Oxfords, $3.50 to $5.00.

Thalheimer's Northwest Corner Third and Broad.

See Our 1913 Patterns of GO-CARTS and CARRIAGES.

Shades to Order at Ryan-Smith's. The Low Profit Policy Store.

The Velvet Kind Same Quality Every Day. PURITY ICE CREAM. Monroe 1801.

Shades to Order at Ryan-Smith's. The Low Profit Policy Store.

The Velvet Kind Same Quality Every Day. PURITY ICE CREAM. Monroe 1801.

Shades to Order at Ryan-Smith's. The Low Profit Policy Store.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS MEET

Virginia State Convention Begins Annual Session at Fredericksburg.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Fredericksburg, Va., April 25.—The Virginia Sunday School Convention convened in the Baptist Church here today and will be in session through Saturday and Sunday, concluding Sunday night. The convention was called to order by the president, M. E. Church, of Falls Church, and the address of welcome on behalf of Fredericksburg was delivered by B. P. Willis, superintendent of the Baptist Sunday school, and President Church responded. An address was delivered by Rev. B. W. Kindley, of Baltimore, general secretary of the Maryland Sunday School Association, on the subject, "The Edible School." Rev. A. R. McKinney, of New York, superintendent of the New York City Mission and Tract Society, also spoke on "After the Party." To-night a song and praise service was held, conducted by Rev. Joseph T. Watts, of Richmond. Sunday school secretary of the Baptist State Mission Board, "The convention address proper was delivered to-night by Professor R. E. Gaines, of Richmond College, whose subject was "Sunday School and the Coming of the Kingdom." The convention was largely attended, many delegates being here from various parts of the State, and in addition there are many others who are interested in Sunday school work who are following the proceedings with great interest.

ASHLAND NEWS NOTES

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Ashland, April 25.—Mrs. Conway Gordon, of Richmond, was the guest this week of Mrs. A. C. Wightman.

Mrs. W. C. Woody, of Richmond, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Overton Howard.

Miss Nellie Smith, of Alabama, is the guest of Mrs. R. E. Blackwell and Miss E. Blackwell.

On Thursday afternoon a delightful round table on "American Illustrations" was conducted by the members of the Young Woman's Literary Club. Among those who took part in the program were Mesdames W. C. Blanton, W. M. Jones, Misses Seabrook, Mitchell, Garline Vandiver and Estelle Blanton. A committee was named to arrange the program for next year, consisting of: Walter M. Jones (chairman), Mesdames Hawes, Tyler, Stuart, Blanton and Mary Goodwin.

Miss Mabelle Biggart, of New York, was the guest of Mrs. C. E. Potts on Thursday afternoon. Miss Biggart attended the conference of writers in Richmond last week, and is now collecting data for a book which will soon be published on her numerous travels.

H. T. Gathright and Little daughter, who were visiting in Goehland County to visit relatives.

The Matinee Euchre Club met Wednesday with Mrs. Barrett Snyder, who was assisted by her daughters, Misses Eleanor and Beret Snyder. The club prize was won by Mrs. Schooler Fox and the guest prize by Miss Lou Redd. Among those present were Mesdames R. H. Wright, James Cheney, Misses Eleanor and Beret Snyder, Mr. J. R. James Howison, Schooler, E. A. Newman, A. S. Carr, Robert Carlton, H. S. Gathright, Ruthford Fleet, George Morris, W. D. Cardwell, W. C. Wolk, C. C. Swann, Lou Redd, McClanahan and Pearl Woolfolk.

The case against C. I. Mitchell and W. R. Carpenter for betting $100 on the Watson-Turnbull primary was called to-day, and Attorney Marvin Smith, counsel for the defendant, pleaded that this court had no jurisdiction over this particular case. The court sustained his plea, and the case was sent to a justice of the peace for trial.

As a new trial in this court was refused, the case will be carried to a higher court.

The case against C. I. Mitchell and W. R. Carpenter for betting $100 on the Watson-Turnbull primary was called to-day, and Attorney Marvin Smith, counsel for the defendant, pleaded that this court had no jurisdiction over this particular case. The court sustained his plea, and the case was sent to a justice of the peace for trial.

As a new trial in this court was refused, the case will be carried to a higher court.

The case against C. I. Mitchell and W. R. Carpenter for betting $100 on the Watson-Turnbull primary was called to-day, and Attorney Marvin Smith, counsel for the defendant, pleaded that this court had no jurisdiction over this particular case. The court sustained his plea, and the case was sent to a justice of the peace for trial.

As a new trial in this court was refused, the case will be carried to a higher court.

The case against C. I. Mitchell and W. R. Carpenter for betting $100 on the Watson-Turnbull primary was called to-day, and Attorney Marvin Smith, counsel for the defendant, pleaded that this court had no jurisdiction over this particular case. The court sustained his plea, and the case was sent to a justice of the peace for trial.

As a new trial in this court was refused, the case will be carried to a higher court.

The case against C. I. Mitchell and W. R. Carpenter for betting $100 on the Watson-Turnbull primary was called to-day, and Attorney Marvin Smith, counsel for the defendant, pleaded that this court had no jurisdiction over this particular case. The court sustained his plea, and the case was sent to a justice of the peace for trial.

As a new trial in this court was refused, the case will be carried to a higher court.

The case against C. I. Mitchell and W. R. Carpenter for betting $100 on the Watson-Turnbull primary was called to-day, and Attorney Marvin Smith, counsel for the defendant, pleaded that this court had no jurisdiction over this particular case. The court sustained his plea, and the case was sent to a justice of the peace for trial.

As a new trial in this court was refused, the case will be carried to a higher court.

The case against C. I. Mitchell and W. R. Carpenter for betting $100 on the Watson-Turnbull primary was called to-day, and Attorney Marvin Smith, counsel for the defendant, pleaded that this court had no jurisdiction over this particular case. The court sustained his plea, and the case was sent to a justice of the peace for trial.

As a new trial in this court was refused, the case will be carried to a higher court.

The case against C. I. Mitchell and W. R. Carpenter for betting $100 on the Watson-Turnbull primary was called to-day, and Attorney Marvin Smith, counsel for the defendant, pleaded that this court had no jurisdiction over this particular case. The court sustained his plea, and the case was sent to a justice of the peace for trial.

As a new trial in this court was refused, the case will be carried to a higher court.

The case against C. I. Mitchell and W. R. Carpenter for betting $100 on the Watson-Turnbull primary was called to-day, and Attorney Marvin Smith, counsel for the defendant, pleaded that this court had no jurisdiction over this particular case. The court sustained his plea, and the case was sent to a justice of the peace for trial.

As a new trial in this court was refused, the case will be carried to a higher court.

The case against C. I. Mitchell and W. R. Carpenter for betting $100 on the Watson-Turnbull primary was called to-day, and Attorney Marvin Smith, counsel for the defendant, pleaded that this court had no jurisdiction over this particular case. The court sustained his plea, and the case was sent to a justice of the peace for trial.

As a new trial in this court was refused, the case will be carried to a higher court.

The case against C. I. Mitchell and W. R. Carpenter for betting $100 on the Watson-Turnbull primary was called to-day, and Attorney Marvin Smith, counsel for the defendant, pleaded that this court had no jurisdiction over this particular case. The court sustained his plea, and the case was sent to a justice of the peace for trial.

As a new trial in this court was refused, the case will be carried to a higher court.

The case against C. I. Mitchell and W. R. Carpenter for betting $100 on the Watson-Turnbull primary was called to-day, and Attorney Marvin Smith, counsel for the defendant, pleaded that this court had no jurisdiction over this particular case. The court sustained his plea, and the case was sent to a justice of the peace for trial.

As a new trial in this court was refused, the case will be carried to a higher court.

The case against C. I. Mitchell and W. R. Carpenter for betting $100 on the Watson-Turnbull primary was called to-day, and Attorney Marvin Smith, counsel for the defendant, pleaded that this court had no jurisdiction over this particular case. The court sustained his plea, and the case was sent to a justice of the peace for trial.

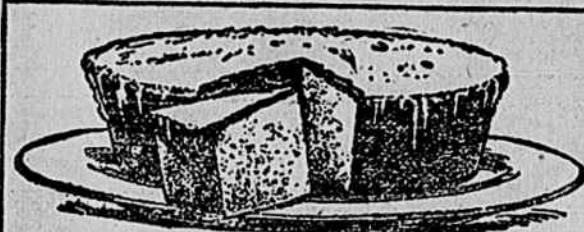

As a new trial in this court was refused, the case will be carried to a higher court.

The case against C. I. Mitchell and W. R. Carpenter for betting $100 on the Watson-Turnbull primary was called to-day, and Attorney Marvin Smith, counsel for the defendant, pleaded that this court had no jurisdiction over this particular case. The court sustained his plea, and the case was sent to a justice of the peace for trial.

As a new trial in this court was refused, the case will be carried to a higher court.

The case against C. I. Mitchell and W. R. Carpenter for betting $100 on the Watson-Turnbull primary was called to-day, and Attorney Marvin Smith, counsel for the defendant, pleaded that this court had no jurisdiction over this particular case. The court sustained his plea, and the case was sent to a justice of the peace for trial.

As a new trial in this court was refused, the case will be carried to a higher court.

The Celebrated Cook Book*"Royal Baker & Pastry Cook"

FREE.

Send your address.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

Royal is absolutely pure and wholesome, the best in every way, of all the baking powders. It makes food of finest flavor, and adds anti-dyspeptic qualities thereto. It has greater leavening strength and is therefore the most economical.

SON OF KING MAY NOT JOIN JOCKEY CLUB

English Sovereign Turns Deaf Ear to Suggestions of His Election.

BY LA MARQUISE DE FORTENOT. KING GEORGE has turned a deaf ear to the suggestion made to him that his eldest son should be elected a member of the Jockey Club on the occasion of its annual meeting next month, and has intimated that although the Prince of Wales is in point of law of age, and as such qualified to reign without the assistance of any regent in the event of a demise of the crown, he does not consider it advisable that he should join the governing body of the British turf for some years to come. The King only became a member shortly before his accession to the throne, while it was not until twelve months ago that the election of his cousin, Prince Arthur of Connaught, took place.

Contrary to common belief, the King does not take the chair at the meetings of the Jockey Club. He is present only as an ordinary member, and it is the senior of the three stewards who presides. The sole concession made to the sovereign's rank is that if he desires to speak upon any question, his views are listened to before the debate becomes general.

But it is by no means known that his wishes receive exceptional consideration. In fact, King Edward, both prior and subsequent to his accession, encountered frequent and bitter opposition, especially on the part of the Duke of Richmond, when he wished to modernize the by-laws and the regulations of the club, and to introduce new blood. Indeed, candidates whom he proposed, and whose election he championed, year after year, were blackballed time and again, and some of the best known men on the English turf, men of rank, who maintain large and costly racing stables, and contribute royally to this nest of all sports, have never been able to penetrate the portals of the Jockey Club, thanks to the ultra-conservative element.

The only change in the list of the stewards which will be made at the annual meeting next month will be the election of Lord Wolverton in the place of Lord Villiers, as one of the triumvirate who constitute the supreme tribunal of the British racing world; a tribunal from the decisions of which there is absolutely no appeal. It is a tribunal that has sometimes been described as England's Court of Honor. For it keeps more or less of a watch over the conduct of people prominent in English life, and while, as a rule, its disciplinary measures are confined to the owners of racing stables, to their trainers, and to their jockeys, there have been several instances where men who have run their horses perfectly straight have been "warned off Newmarket Heath" for dishonorable conduct, totally unconnected with racing. And to be "warned off" means not only ignominy, but exclusion from every race course controlled by the Jockey Club, but a social ostracism so severe that most men would find death preferable.

Lord Wolverton, as a young man, spent a number of years on this side of the Atlantic, engaged in the banking and brokerage business in Wall Street, New York. In those days he bore the name of Freddie Glyn. He was far from rich, and his prospects of ever becoming a peer of the realm seemed rather remote, being a younger son of the late Admiral Glyn, that gallant and courtly Crimean veteran who, after losing his wife, became the hero of the one romance in the life of Adelaide Nelson, probably the most beautiful and fascinating actress of the nineteenth century. When she died with such dramatic suddenness, in Paris, while out driving his chaise de Boulogne, it was found that she had bequeathed her entire fortune, amounting to over $150,000, to the admiral, who was so broken-hearted by her death that he did not live long to enjoy the money. He left two sons.

The elder, Henry, succeeded to the peerage of his father's elder brother, Lord Wolverton, on the latter's death in 1887, and dying in turn twelve months later without having been married, left the title and the peerage to his only son, the present Lord Freddie, the former Wall Street clerk. About four years later he inherited a large fortune amounting to some $150,000, from the late Lady Wolverton, widow of his uncle, and also derives a large income from his membership of the great banking house of Glyn, Mills, Currie & Company. He, however, gives but little of his time to finance, displaying a marked preference for all forms of sports, principally horseracing and yachting.

Lord Wolverton was associated with Lord Dunsen as joint owner of Vulkryn II, and sailed with him in the races for the American cup, off Sandy Hook, when defeated by the Viscountess. He is the chief organ of the movement inaugurated some time ago, which has for its object the licensing of yacht skippers by the Royal Yacht Squadron, much in the same way that jockeys and trainers are licensed by the Jockey Club.

Of course, every British skipper has a sailing master's certificate, issued by the Government Board of Trade in London. But, according to Wolverton, something more is needed, since there are plenty of reprehensible characters in connection with maritime sport, which, while deserving of punishment, do not fall under the ban of the Government Board of Trade, or warrant the latter's withdrawal of the certificate of sailing master. He claims that the Royal Yacht Squadron keeps a blacklist of delinquent skippers and yacht owners, but this is not enough, and, according to Lord Wolverton, there should be some means of disqualifying them, by taking part in yachting contests in any part of the world if they have rendered themselves guilty of the violation of the rules of the ring.

Lord Wolverton, who is married to the only sister of Lord Dudley, and who some years ago sold Twyne Manor, his beautiful country seat in Dorsetshire, to Bruce Ismay, the outgoing chairman of the Mercantile Marine Company, belongs to a very ancient family, the title of which it has been identified with the banking house in the city of London for 100 years past.

The Glyn claim descent from Clavin Treed Dhu, one of the great tribal chieftains of Wales, and among their ancestors was a Lord Glyn, a knight, who in 1402 defended Carnarvon Castle for Henry IV. against Owen Glendower. William Glyn, of Glyn Llyvon, held a commission from Queen Elizabeth empowering him to administer and regulate the character of the nobles. Thomas Glyn was Lord Chief Justice of England in the reign of Charles II, and one of his sons, who changed the spelling of his name to Glynne, became the ancestor of the Glynnes of Hafren Castell, so long the home of the late William E. Glyn, and now owned by his grandson, Ambassador Bryce's former private secretary at Washington, under the will of his maternal granduncle, the late Sir Stephen Glynne. Then there was a Glyn who was Lord Mayor of London, and representative of the city in Parliament in the reign of George II.

George Glyn, head of the Glyn, Mills & Currie banking house, and grandfather of the present peer, was raised to the House of Lords as first Lord Wolverton, and married a daughter of Pascoe Grenfell, head of another great banking dynasty, one of the members of which is a partner of the J. Pierpont Morgan Bank, in London. His son and successor, the second Lord Wolverton, supported Gladstone's home rule movement, to which, however, the present and fourth Lord Wolverton is strongly opposed.

In connection with the proceedings for criminal libel brought in England by Colonel Frederick Hamilton Custance against his son-in-law, Lord Alfred Douglas, it should be widely known that Lady Alfred Douglas has left her husband, and has placed herself and her child under the protection of her father, Lord Alfred. In an affidavit, has stated that she left her husband of her own accord and voluntarily, carrying with her all her effects, thus disposing of Lord Alfred's cause, which had been abductured by her father, and was being detained in custody by the latter, against her will. Of the other proceedings in which Lord Alfred Douglas is involved, as plaintiff, suing for damages the author and publisher of the latest Oscar Wilde biography, it is unnecessary to speak here.

(Copyright, 1913, by the Brentwood Company.)

COULD MAKE OUT HUNDRED CHARGES

Bonding Company Agent Says There Is Much Evidence Against W. J. Rowley.

"While we have sufficient evidence which could be used to swear out 100 warrants against Rowley, I have no idea that this will be done," said Arthur M. Cannon, agent of the National Surety Company, yesterday referring to the case of William J. Rowley, former auditor of the Jefferson Hotel, accused of embezzling funds said to be in excess of $85,000.

For the third time Rowley's case was called in Police Court yesterday morning and again continued because the accused was unable to appear. He is now in the City Jail hospital suffering from an affection of the leg. The jail physician informed Justice Crutchfield that the prisoner was not in condition to come to court. The case was continued until next Saturday.

Rowley has been in the prison hospital since his arrest on March 21 at St. Elizabeth's Hospital. Mr. Cannon, whose company was on Rowley's bond for $10,000, said that in the event the accused auditor applies for bail additional charges may be made against him. He now faces two warrants involving the alleged theft of $275,191. It is not believed that Rowley will make application for bail. It is regarded as likely that Rowley's counsel, H. M. Smith Jr., will waive a preliminary examination in Police Court and carry the case at once before a jury in the Hastings Court.

Diamonds

The reputation of this firm has been established on the high quality of its merchandise.

This confidence is necessary to the purchase of a Diamond.

SCHWARZSCHILD BROS., Richmond's Leading Jewelers, Second and Broad Sts.

A most pleasant pastime—KODAKING.

Tragle's

has a full line.

The House of Fashion Bernard Frances & Co. Broad and Fifth Sts.

REINACH, Inc. 107 E. BROAD STREET

MILLINERY—Women's and Misses' Outer Apparel.

Use Pratt's Astral Oil for Incubators.

N. Klein & Son, Inc. 620 East Broad.

WE MAKE A SPECIALTY of packing household goods and china for shipment.

Rountree-Sutherland-Cherry Corporation

The first floor of SYDNOR & HUNDLEY'S is a scene of beauty in Summer Furniture and Porch and Lawn Goods; a great display also of Refrigerators.

CHICHESTER'S PILLS

THE DIAMOND BRAND. CHICHESTER'S PILLS are sold in all the leading drug stores and by mail.

CHICHESTER'S PILLS are sold in all the leading drug stores and by mail.

CHICHESTER'S PILLS are sold in all the leading drug stores and by mail.

CHICHESTER'S PILLS are sold in all the leading drug stores and by mail.

CHICHESTER'S PILLS are sold in all the leading drug stores and by mail.

CHICHESTER'S PILLS are sold in all the leading drug stores and by mail.

CHICHESTER'S PILLS are sold in all the leading drug stores and by mail.

CHICHESTER'S PILLS are sold in all the leading drug stores and by mail.